On behalf of University of CPN– Katarina Zivkovic

After a brief welcome address and introduction of the participants by Vesna Lopicic, the vice rector for international cooperation of the University of Nis, Dragana Cvetkovic Ilic gave a very detailed overview of the project results, as well as of some recent activities and some of those that are about to follow next. The NEO representatives asked questions so as to have certain points clarified about the final results of some of the activities and then gave a number of instructions for their better realization. During a long discussion, with a lot of useful advice given by the NEO representatives, the representatives from the University of Belgrade, University of Kragujevac and University of Novi Sad described the roles of and the progress made by their institutions within the project and presented their opinion concerning the project activities currently being on the agenda. Katarina Andjelkovic gave some useful ideas concerning the trainings which are to be organized in this project year. The final conclusion of the meeting was that mostly all the activities were realized on time and in the line with the project application but also that there was a lot that remained to be done in order to meet the project plan.
